Independent Auditors' Report

To the Board of Directors,
BCG Securities, Inc.

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of BCG Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, that are filed pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the statements of financial condition referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of BCG Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2012 and 2011 in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2012 and 2011

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Significant accounting policies followed by the Company in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements are summarized below:

Nature of Business Operations

BCG Securities, Inc. (the "Company") was incorporated in September 1965, organized under the Laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and is registered as a broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The Company is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA).

The Company brokers securities transactions for investment mutual funds, for customer 401(k) plans and individuals. The Company's customer base is mainly comprised of companies and individuals located in the Northeast United States.

Commissions Receivable

Commissions receivable represents amounts due from the Company's clearing firm, and other mutual fund companies, for securities transactions that were traded prior to the year end. Commissions receivable are stated at the full amount of the commissions and other servicing fees charged to its customers to broker securities transactions. The Company considers commissions receivable to be substantially all collectible. Accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required at December 31, 2012 and 2011.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Disclosures About Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, commissions receivable, accounts payable, commissions payable, and accrued expenses approximate fair value due to the short maturity of these items.

Revenue Recognition

Commission income and related expenses are recorded on a trade date basis.

Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents, consists of cash and highly liquid instruments with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased.

Computer Equipment

Equipment is stated at cost. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to operations as incurred. Renewals and betterments that materially extend the life of assets are capitalized. Depreciation is computed based on an estimated useful life of 3 years. All equipment is fully depreciated.

Business Concentrations

The Company maintains its cash balances at financial institutions, which may at times exceed amounts insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Since these are high quality financial institutions, management does not believe the Company is exposed to any significant credit risk on its cash balances.

BCG Securities, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2012 and 2011

Income Taxes

The Company has elected S corporation status, for federal and state purposes, effective January 1, 2000. Earnings and losses after that date are included in the personal income tax returns of the stockholders and taxed depending on their personal tax strategies. Accordingly, the Company will not incur significant income tax obligations.

The Company adopted the accounting pronouncement dealing with uncertain tax positions, as of January 1, 2009. Upon adoption of this accounting pronouncement, the Company had no unrecognized tax benefits. Furthermore, the Company had no unrecognized tax benefits at December 31, 2012 and 2011. The Company has no open tax years prior to December 31, 2009. The Company did not have any tax related interest or penalties for the years in question.

2. Restricted Cash

The Company maintains a depository account with its clearing broker in the amount of $25,000 at December 31, 2012 and 2011 pursuant to its clearing agreements.

3. Related Party Transactions

The Company has entered into an agreement with its affiliated company that provides for an allocation of shared expenses. At December 31, 2012 and 2011 the Company had a net payable of $16,288 and $85,384, respectively. Lease commitments for equipment and building are in the Company's parent's name. The building commitment expires December 31, 2013 pursuant to a lease extension executed on July 20, 2005.

4. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of a minimum net capital amount and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, as defined, shall not exceed 15.0 to 1.0. At December 31, 2012, the Company had net capital of $529,707, which was $495,810 in excess of its required minimum net capital of $33,897. Also, at December 31, 2012, the Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was .96 to 1.0.

6. Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to a concentration of credit risk consist principally of commissions receivable.

Concentration of credit risk with respect to commissions receivable is limited due to the large number of customers comprising the Company's customer base and their dispersion across different geographic regions. As of December 31, 2012 and 2011, the Company had no significant concentration of credit risk.

The Company is engaged in various trading and brokerage activities in which counter parties primarily include broker-dealers, banks, and other financial institutions. In the event that counter parties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counter party or issuer of the instrument. It is the Company's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counter party.

7. Regulation

The Company is registered as a broker-dealer with the SEC. The securities industry in the United States is subject to extensive regulation under both federal and state laws. The SEC is the federal agency responsible for the administration of the federal securities laws. Much of the regulation of broker-dealers has been delegated to self-regulatory organizations, such as the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), which has been designated by the SEC as the Company's primary regulator. These self-regulatory organizations adopt rules, subject to approval by the SEC, that govern the industry and conduct periodic examinations of the Company's operations. The primary purpose of these requirements is to enhance the protection of customer assets. These laws and regulatory requirements subject the Company to standards of solvency with respect to capital requirements, financial reporting requirements, record keeping and business practices.

Securities firms are also subject to regulation by state securities administrators in those states in which they conduct business.

8. Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 20, 2013, which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued. Based on this evaluation, the Company has determined that no subsequent events have occurred, which require disclosure in the financial statements.

Report on Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5(g)(1) for a Broker-Dealer Claiming an Exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3

To the Board of Directors,
BCG Securities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audits of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of BCG Securities, Inc. (the "Company") as of and for the years ended December 31, 2012 and 2011, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding two paragraphs. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's previously mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraphs.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A deficiency in control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected, on a timely basis.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first, second, and third paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities and certain regulated commodity customer and firm assets that we consider to be a material weakness, as defined.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2012 and 2011, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the SEC and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 of the CFTC or both in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
